WASHINGTON:

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 22 Commissioner to China.

We have to announce the appointment by the President of a gentleman as Commissioner to China. The name of the person selected we are not permitted to give to-day. The mission was tendered to several distinguished men. who declined the honor; but it has, at last, worthily fill it.

The Resources of the South.

We have promised to make some remarks on the harbors of the South and its foreign commercial relations and positions.

The South cannot boast harbors so numerous and good as the North. There are few countries in the world, indeed, supplied with so great a number of harbors, in proportion to the extent of seacoast, as New York and New England; and the sinuosities of their coast are such as to multiply them much beyond those of merely straight lines of coast. Still, the South has a sufficient number of good harbors to carry on an immense commerce. Besides, if this commerce in her own ports were vastly augmented, great improvements could be made in her harbors. Her commerce having flown, heretofore, through artificial channels, to the shores of Europe, and of almost every other country where it has gone, has prevented much attention to the improvement of her harbors; but as we have shown, that of the one hundred and fifty-one millions of the exports of the United States, about eighty-three millions are of Southern origin, it is plain that the South furnishes eighty-three one hundred and fifty-first parts, or fifty-three one-hundredths of the nutriment of our foreign commerce. That she has not long ago established a direct trade, shows an important defect in the policy and habits of our Southern people. Now that by bitter experience they know that these vast resources are turned out of their proper direct channels of communication, it is high time that they should reform this discreditable and dangerous state of things.

But to speak of our harbors more particularly, we will enumerate a number of themenough to make out a respectable list, and one which is sufficient to transact a third of the commerce of the world, as it ultimately will. All in this list are good harbors. Norfolk is the best; and Norfolk may, and one day will, become the Tyre of the South, and Charleston has the capacities of a Liverpool, and there is abundance of probability that she will one day feelings, or to pander to the depraved excitement have them all in active exertion. Baltimore will long continue to rise, and will always be a great city, and all those in the subjoined list will ultimately be cities of magnitude, viz : Baltimore, Alexandria, Georgetown, Washington, Fredericksburg, two or three below Fredericksburg on the Rappahannock, one or two on York river, Norfolk, Richmond, two on James river below Richmond, Wilmington, Benufort in North Carolina, Charleston, Savannah, Pensacola, Mobile, New Orleans, Matagorda bay, and several other harbors on the coast of Texas. Matagorda bay is probably much the most eligible of all the harbors in Texas, its position as well as depth being considered. Texas has no naturally deep harbor; but the powers of improvement can there, as well as elsewhere, remove obstructions to commerce, when once it shall be ascertained that a great commerce will naturally pass through it. As we have said, through these harbors onethird of the commerce of the whole world can be easily transacted, and some day not very distant such will be the case-for, on investigation, we find that while the North is most eligibly situated for commerce with Northern Europe, the South is better situated than the North for commerce with Southern Europe-with all of Africa, from Abyla to Cape Guardafui, and incomparably better situated for commerce with the West Indies, Mexico, Central and South America. Moreover, it will be found that much the shortest route within our limits. as well as the least expensive, across the continent to the Pacific, runs through the South, From Matagorda bay, in Texas, to San Diego, in California, has been proved, by reports and exact reconnoissances, to be not much over twelve hundred miles, on a route most eligible for a railroad. No doubt the Northern route from St. Louis will be prosecuted by Northern men: but it is not the route for the South. We do not doubt its utility and feasibility; but the evidence is conclusive that the Southern route is still more easily practicable, and of at least equal utility. Both can flourish by the immense travel and commerce that will pass over them. Of the character of a large part of this route we have much information already published. In the Republic of October 11th we find the following article, extracted from the Victoria (Texas) Advocate:

"ROUTE TO EL PASO.-We are pleased to announce that Juan Maria Poncede Leon, who arrived in Victoria a few days since from El Paso, proposes to make regular trips with a train of from twenty-five to thirty mule teams from Victoria and Matagorda bay to Chihushua or El Paso. He represents it as sixty miles less from San Antonio to Chihuahua than to El Paso, over a good road, abounding in good grass, which can be traveled at any period of the year. He takes out at this trip seven wa-gon loads of goods for the Boundary Commison, and eight for himself. As an evidence of AMERICAN TELEGRAPH great natural advantages. Those merchants rangements, and be as punctual as they will be, and all will be well. This is the true way to remedy the evils of Northern aggression! To speculate about possible conbeen accepted by one who, we doubt not, will be the remedy, is, in the netual state of things, infatuation. To undertake, for any existing causes, such measures, is absurd and awfully iniquitous. Here is a remedy incomparably easier, within the limits of the Constitution, which still keeps the stars and stripes over our heads for our protection against the aggressive spirit which we should find abroad in the world were we separated from the rest of the confederacy, and far less manageable than that with which we are annoyed at home. The lat- first place, it is not claimed that a clairvoyant ter we can manage through the instrumentality of law: but the spirit of foreign aggression, were we a separate confederacy, we must quell by gunpowder, and succeed in vanquishing only by shedding torrents of blood.

The Clarke County (Va.) Alleged Homi-

The Charlestown Spirit of Jefferson of yesterday contains an account of this case, which was that Col. James Castleman, and his son, Stephen D. Castleman, were acquitted "in a manner most marked and triumphant, and with the full approbation of the Court." They had punished severely two thievish slaves. Having whipped the first, they secured him by fastening a chain around his neck, the other end being attached to the joist above him, but with plenty of slack to the chain, while they went in pursuit of the it may never accomplish more. other negro. When they returned they found him hanging dead. They had left a white man with him, whom he asked for a box "that he could jump off from," expressing a fear that when they should come back they would whip him again; and said "if he had a knife he would get one hand loose and cut his throat." The white man remained with him about half an hour, but after hearing these threats he should not have left him. The appearance of the brain after death proved to the satisfaction of the physicians that fainting had not preceded hanging, and no doubt existed that this was voluntary.

The paper we have quoted says:

"It remains to be seen, whether those editors and others, who, to gratify their own vindictive of the time in the Northern States, have man ufactured or propagated the calumnious rumors ply of every thing for men's and boys' wear. to which the occasion gave birth, will now justice to the gentlemen in question.

among those editors who quoted the first published statements representing the Messrs. Castleman as deeply culpable. We of course regarded these statements as truthful, for they came from respectable sources. We did not, however. republish them from such motives as are suggested in the Spirit, but for the purpose of giving correct information to the public, and of manifesting to the people of the North and of the lery, consisting of a steamboat boiler-paraded whole world that cruelty to the slave could not be tolerated in the State of Virginia.

The persons accused have been acquitted. We are exceedingly gratified at this, and are onvinced that neither of them had a murderous esign in his heart. The event is no doubt regarded by them as an overwhelming calamity they would have given the value of all their slaves to avert.

We record these truths with the liveliest satisfaction; yet we deem it due to the people of Virginia, and of every slaveholding State in the Catholic,) of New York, says: Union, to declare that, in a lifetime almost "So the Pope does not thank anybody for wholly passed in those States, we have never what freedom Catholicity enjoys in America. dwelt among any who would approve the char- Catholic Bishops do not thank anybody. We acter of the punishment with which these two negroes were visited; but have always known dence in the matter, and stand ready to pull it to be condemned and rebuked. We have the silly nose of the first Methodist or Presbyseen gathered into books by the enemies of the South, and published to the world as portraitures of slavery, the records of such cases; but our experience, which has been by no means limited, authorizes the assertion that the humanity and benevolence of slave-owners have those of the inhabitants of any other portion of the world. The opinions of a majority of the Abolitionists of the North are based upon is that good and honest men and women are growing fast in public favor, and musical profound among the most enthusiastic of these people. We cannot, therefore, give our public sanction to the conduct of the Messrs. Castleman, nor regard their acquittal as triumphant. They are innocent of murder, and of the faintest design of perpetrating such an act, and we rejoice with them in a knowledge of this; but they are not innocent of such severity and summary cruelty in punishing their negroes, as miles from Washington, on the Marlboro' road, will be sold at prices to suit the times.

That more calm consideration and gentler discipline may henceforth mark their conduct, and that the good-will and sympathy of their friends and fellow-citizens may remain with them, is our earnest wish; but the results of their past error are before themselves and all others, as an impressive lesson upon the folly and wickedness of abusing the power committed to individual men by the laws of the & Co.'s express messenger, that a dreadful af-

Before the sailing of the vessels in search of the missing ships, wherefore did not some of Dr. Gregory's clairvoyants inform them of the exact position of the objects of their search?"

We observe that remarks and questions of this tenor are also made in a recent number of the North British Review, in an article on Electro-Biology.

The futility of this mode of treating the subject appears to us to be very manifest. In the can make voluntary choice of what he shall or shall not discover. He is put in that state without reference to the purpose, and ideas are suggested to him through the voice's of others. He then reveals what he beholds, but cannot choose what he shall behold. As well might the miracles of Christ and his Apostles be doubted, (we make the comparison with reverence,) because they did not choose to perform last week tried before the Circuit Court of such others as the curiosity of their spectators Clarke county. From this statement, it appears required. If clairvoyance reveals truths in a wonderful way, it should be inquired into in an unprejudiced manner, and not scouted and derided because it does not accomplish more. For ourselves, we do not believe in it: it is so wonderful that our judgment refuses credence on the evidence before us. But if all it is alleged to have accomplished be established as true, then our judgment must yield, even though

> DISASTERS TO WHALERS .- Advices from the Pacific and Arctic whaling squadron, received at New Bedford, show that there have been some exaggerations in the statements relative to the number of vessels reported to be in the northern waters. There is no denial, however, of the entire destruction of a great many ships, and that upwards of sixty others were badly crippled by the ice. The sufferings of crews who were saved are also represented as frightful in the extreme. The insurance on the lost vessels belonging to New Bedford is said to be very trifling.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY!

"NONE NEED DESPAIR."

All must admit there never has been given such a mass of genuine teatimony in favor of any other medicine. Give it a trial! It cures when all other remedies have failed. Greater weight of testimony cannot be given—from the first men in this country.

Вантімови, Sept. 18, 1851. GENTLEMEN: After a full and satisfactory trial of the medicine prepared by you, and very generally known as Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, which you recomended me to use as a relief for the debility and general rostration of my system, the result of taking three botprostration of my system, the result of taking three bottles of this wonderful compound has, I am pleased to say, resulted in a restoration of strength, a keen appetite, and an activity of body which I have not enjoyed for a long time. So satisfied am I of the virtues of this medicine, that I have confidently recommended it to many of my friends and acquaintances, and am happy to learn that in a great majority of cases the most beneficial results have stamped the infallibility of the Tincture. In my own case, I am satisfied that your advice to me to give it a trial has, under the blessing of a kind Providence, resulted in a restoration to health, for which I am truly thankful.

Respectfully, JOS. K. STAPLETON, 198 W. Baltimore street.

MoRE HOME TESTIMONY.—NONE NEED DESPAIR.

TRY IT AND BE CURED.—WONDERFUL AND PERMANENT CURE OF DYSPEPSIA.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray.—Gentlemen: This is to certify that in the year 1843 I was attacked with a nervous affection, in consequence of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, which continued some eighteen months, during which time my sufferings were intense, both of body and mind. I tried every thing I could think or hear of, (as there was much sympathy for me,) and at length all efforts failed to cure me. I became much weakened, and could walk but a very short distance at a time, and was often in the act of falling upon the pavement, (I would stop in some door or alley to prevent it.) In consequence of frequent palpitations; and, from what I could learn, I supposed I had disease of the heart, from frequent distressing pains about the same; as also my chest and abdomen—the latter being much distended. At this stage of my disorder I could neither ead, sleep or wellk with any satisfaction to myself. Life seemed to be a burden to me. My feelings were gloomy beyond description.

I at length heard of Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and made trial of it. I had but taken the first dose when I felt a change for the better, and hope immediately sprang up. I continued, with the use of this invaluable Tincture, to improve daily, until I had taken the contents of three bottles, which, under Divine Providence, made a perfect cure of me.

I found I had an excellent appetite, and could partake erfect cure of me.

I found I had an excellent appetite, and could partake f any food, which I could not do for years previously idhout the most distressing sensations. I now enjoy ninterrupted good health, and have done so for the last ix years; and would say to all afflicted as I have be cast aside your prejudices, and try Hampton's Vege Fincture. Any information beside this but meagre cription of my case will be given cheerfully for the bene t of the afflicted. Yours, WILLIAM M.OLDHAM, Custom-House; dwelling, Fayette st., near Fremon SUCH A MASS OF HOME TESTIMONY MUST CARRY CONVICTION TO EVERY MIND.

SUCH A MASS OF HOME TESTIMONY MUST CARRY CONVICTION TO EVERY MIND.

BALTIMORE, Sep. 18, 1851.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The cure of Mr. Robert Gault, by the use of three bottles of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, as per his certificate, is, I think, almost unprecedented. His case of extremely excruciating suffering, from Chronic Inflammatory Rheumatism, came immediately under my own observation, through the last four years, which I considered entirely hopeless. Through my earnest persuasion, he was induced to try your invaluable Tincture. I was prompted to remark at the time, that if medicine would cure Mr. Gault, it certainly would "remove mountains." The knowledge of this miraculous cure compels me to consider it a duty I owe to the afflicted (and particularly to those with complaints like his) to make generally known the healing power of this truly wonderful medicine. Yours, most respectfully,

JAMES P. MERRITT,

187 Baltimore street.
